CITY NEWS.

The reduction in the size of The News to-day is compelled by the fact that during the erection of our new press we are printing the paper at the Journal office, and their press can not be adjusted to print the regular size. The quantity of advertising is reduced, and the usual amount of reading matter, including all the news, is given.

The grand jury convened to-day, at the county commissioners'. Jack Long was the solitary arrest yesterday for violating the Sunday liquor law.

Sixty-five Jersey cattle will be sold at the exposition building Wednesday morning.

Philip Phillips, of international reputation, will appear April 1 to 4, at Fletcher Place church.

The police is turning attention to the ill fame element, and there were fourteen defendants filed under the law to-day.

Mrs. Mary J. Longtin seeks a divorce from Leonidas Langston, a bigging ill treatment. They were married in March 1873.

There were but ten building permits issued during February, calling for an expenditure of $12,000, as against six hundred and fifty, for the corresponding time last year.

Harriet Ann Eisey, colored, residing 9 Lafayette street, died suddenly with consumption, as is supposed, and owing to the lack of an attending physician the coroner has been called upon for a death certificate.

Great Religious Interest.—The religious revival in Memorial Presbyterian church continues unabated, and yesterday was one of interest to all who attended. At the morning communion service nineteen members were received in the church, making eighty-two new members received since the first of the year. Dr. Edson preached both morning and evening to a large congregation, exhorting for his subject the Armor of God, dealing the duties of Christian warriors, while battling for right and against the powers of the adversary of souls. There will be services Thursday and Friday evenings of this week.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The House Does Nothing of Special Importance.

The Senate Thinks to Originate an Appropriation Bill.

SENATE.

The senate spent the afternoon session on Saturday in considering the bill for the relief of the nine township trustees of this county, who lost about $20,000 by bank failures, and on motion of Mr. Touche, it was finally laid on the table by a vote of 24 to 10. The senate will open with prayer, this morning, by Rev. J. P. Cowan, of the First Presbyterian church, General Weir presiding, in the absence of Senator Mason. The session was occupied with reception of reports of committees and reading a second time of bills. A few bills relative to dogs and roads were read a third time. The house bill appropriating $20,000 for the State university was read a first time, and after a severe struggle the motion to lay the house bill on hygienic education, similar to the senate bill which was adopted last week, was lost, and the bill admitted to first reading. A spirited passage occurred on Senator Foulke's motion to present a separate general appropriation bill. He said that the action of the house this morning in deferring the consideration of the appropriation bill until one hundred bills, one from each county, were passed to a third reading meant something, and he thought it meant an inquiry for another session. If an extra session were held he would result in a prolonged session, with the house. He thought both democrats and republicans in the senate desired a speedy adjournment. Senator Willard replied that never in the history of the state had an appropriation bill originated in the senate. Such a measure would arouse the ire of the house as an invasion of its most cherished privilege, and would lead to such entanglements as would result in a prolonged session, or an adjournment without the passage of the appropriation bill. Senator Foulke's motion was lost. The true inwardness of the position seems to be a desire of the house, by delaying the appropriation bill, to give time to the democratic majority in the senate to coerce or coax senators into passage of the congressional and legislative appropriation bills. This object is believed to be accomplished, and it is thought that the house will refuse adjournment to-day, and pass the general appropriation bill to-morrow. It is taken for granted the metropolitan police bills for Fort Wayne and other cities will not be forced on the legislature, and a very curious explanation of the sudden abandonment of the scheme is given. Fort Wayne has a democrat in training for the governorship, and the Allen county delegation believes that if the state officers are to appoint police commissioners in all the large cities they will simply use the appointing power to set up the pins for the nomination of Secretary of State Myers, two years hence. So the Allen county delegation is bent on defeating the appropriation bills unless the metropolitan police bill is killed off, and the trade was made.

HOUSE.

The house on Saturday afternoon passed the bill appropriating $30,000 for the completion of the State University at Bloomington; appropriating $100,000 for the completion of the new insane hospital at Evansville, Richmond and Logansport, and defining the forty-seventh and forty-eighth judicial circuits.

The house was called to order this morning by Clerk Darnell, in the absence of Speaker J. Watt, and in accordance with the designation of the latter gentleman, Mr. Gordon was called to the chair. Mr. McMillan, chairman of the ways and means committee, moved that the house resolve itself into a committee of the whole to consider the appropriation bill. Objection was raised to this by Mr. Sears, B. B. B. and others, on the ground that, by a special rule, the committee on ways and means is to call the roll of members, each member to name one bill which should be disposed of, and that this took precedence of the special order, which was the consideration of the appropriation bills. A lengthy discussion ensued on points of order and interpretation of the rules, and the motion to go into committee of the whole was defeated by a vote of 27 to 44. This action is regarded as indicating that no special effort will be made to hurry through the necessary legislation.

Mr. Atkins' bill, authorizing townships to add to the construction of bridges over streams on boundary lines of counties was passed by a vote of 41 to 18.

Mr. Crook's bill allowing county treasurers to pay for collecting delinquent taxes came up on a third reading and provoked a lengthy discussion, several members arguing that the treasurers received no pay for their services, and that other county officers, and that the effect of the bill, if passed, would be to secure a closer collection of taxes. The bill failed to pass by a vote of 27 to 44.

Mr. Gordon to preside over the house to-day and Mr. Gooding to-morrow morning.

If the governor does not call an extra session, the legislature will adjourn next Monday at noon. Bills can be passed, and probably will be, in the middle of Saturday, and the assembly will doubtless do more work this week than it has in the preceding seven weeks. There is little reason to believe that there will be an extra session, unless the political agitation should fail to get through, and there is little probability of that.

The congressional apportionment bill will become a law. That is as sure as such things can be. The opposition to it in the senate has been partially conciliated by dropping the police bill—and it is now as firm as a rock as to people's thought. Mr. Shriver, and possibly one or two others, may oppose it, but it has been endorsed by the caucus, and a passage is perceptibly demanded by the senate. It is said that even Mr. Hendricks' judgment is by apportionment monstrosities of which the republicans have been guilty.

A STALWART'S VIEW.—Said a republican to The News reporter this morning: "Republicans in all parts of the state demand that the republican members of this assembly should resign before this infamous gerrymandering scheme shall pass. We have had that procedure under the late republican majority, yet the republicans refused to resign though they would be returned because they don't want the trouble of another campaign. Some of the other of his kind are in the same boat. They purpose to swamp the whole republican party with more than a little trouble or run a little risk."
